Notes (1) - Aniline leather ranges which have a natural appearance and feel but are more susceptible to scratching, soiling and spillage marks.

(2) – Antique leather ranges have a pigmented bottom coat and a thinner antique top coat which is designed to wear off over a period of time and reveal the bottom coat beneath which replicates the original antique chesterfield look.

All our leathers comply with strict regulations and EU directives covering the use and presence of PCP, CFC, ChromoVI, Dimethylfumarate (DMF) and Azo dyestuffs during the tanning process. Leather is a natural product and colour and texture variations between batches may occur.

Please also refer to our specification sheet for each range (available online).
